Murray is now living with his mom and girlfriend (who is the mother to his youngest child) in Los Angeles. He is fighting for his medical license ,but the Jackson family has a tight grip on his license. They say the are taking precaution for every family out there by not giving back his license.

Texas...

Murray just sued Texas for his medical license back that very week. He also has to find a good paying job soon because he is more than 40,000.00 in debt with the courts.

REUNITED!!!

As soon as a Murray was released he went to in-and-out burger for a cheeseburger. He also met with his 4 year old son in the mountains.

In court murray's 4 ex-girlfriends and his current girlfriend all made statements about their contact with murray the night of Michael's death. He had talked to all of them either that day or that week.

Violations

In court Murray was tried with 17 violations concluding to michael's death. Most of the violations had to do with the lack of equipment and calling the police.

That night....

Murray inserted many drugs into a IV. It also was reported that because of so many lv hook-up you couldn't find the veins in Michael's arms or hands.

Today.

In today's economy it's going to be hard for Murray to move on with MJ fans constantly telling him how bad of a person or doctor he is. It is gonna be hard to get a good medical job after being in jail for killing the "King of PoP". And in my opinion Murray was only doing his job, and went through all the rules and everything was fine so he went to the bathroom only to come back to a dead Michael Jackson. And even then he tried everything he knew to bring him back.
